Dear Ms. Gifford:

I want to begin by expressing my gratitude for all of your hard work in organizing our field trip. In addition to the heavy workload associated with teaching 3 separate different grade levels at the tech academy. In all honesty, I want to thank you for the trip to Sonoma state.

from the beginning to the end, the trip was incredible. Not many students truly displayed the excitement but that's just the personality of teenagers. Given us a charter bus and plenty of room to spread out. Although the campus is rather tiny, I enjoyed how it is isolated and has few people overall there is also little traffic. That's a positive thing, but there aren't many options when it comes to majors and minors I take interest in. Through my college years, activities like wine business, archery, fishing and painting are all incredibly interesting and cool ways to explore and live. Although their housing is fantastic and they have their own room, Sonoma is not what I'm looking for because it offers me so much resources, courses or classes in things I want to pursue. Sonoma is an option, a fantastic choice for some other individuals. I'm just not one of them. I'm happy that I was able to visit Sonoma state in person, especially since someone was able to explain to me the various clubs and majors the school offers as well as understudies. Limitations on resources for specific things I want to advance to. I think Sonoma is a great option for some people. I'm just not one of those individuals. I'm glad I got to see Sonoma state in person, especially someone explaining the majors and understudies the school offers all clubs they had available. I'm certain that I appreciate the setting and surroundings it gave, but not so much the school itself. Trip offers expectations and standards I didn't think I had for a university. Sonoma state trip wasn't just an excuse to skip school, it definitely helped me narrow down what I really want to study and learn to the fullest, what school is going to give those resources to achieve that.

We appreciate all of your efforts and long hours in organizing this field trip as well as the upcoming plans you are now working on. I only have respect for you because I now know how hard you work to make sure that your students succeed. As a teacher at Weber Institute, I'm happy that a teacher like you is teaching the next generation of leaders.

Sincerely,

Ashley D rojas Gonzalez
