To Whom it may concern,

It is with great pleasure that I write this letter of recommendation for Ashley Rojas, whom I've had the privilege of working with over the past four years in my role as a School Counselor. Ashley is not only a dedicated student with a 3.0 GPA and consistent Honor Roll recognition, but also a passionate and creative individual with a strong artistic spirit.

Ashley has consistently brought imaginative thinking and a unique perspective to every initiative. Her creativity shines in team settings, where she inspires others through innovative ideas and inclusive collaboration. Ashley's involvement in Leadership class further reflects her many skills of being organized and professional.

Her outgoing personality and genuine kindness make her stand out among her peers. Ashley also takes pride in her Native American heritage, often incorporating cultural elements into her creative work and sharing traditions that enrich our campus's cultural awareness and appreciation.

I wholeheartedly recommend Ashley for admission to your program. Her leadership, compassion, and artistic drive will undoubtedly make her a valuable contributor to your academic and creative community. I am excited to see how her talents continue to grow and inspire others in the future.
